

Election results top Romulus activity

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Although many important incidents have made the headlines of The Romulus Roman during the past year, the most vital to community development was the results of the city election which saw the ouster of the mayor and election of some new administration and council members.

The election of new city officials hopefully will see a change in Romulus as the mayor promises improvements in recreation, the development of the city and plans to make the city more attractive to business and industry.

The Roman was first to report Mayor Hyle Carmichael's intention to seek re-election. In April, The Roman reported that running with Carmichael was the same men who sought administrative posts with him in 1971. They were Romulus City Clerk Leonard Folmar and Romulus City Treasurer Albert Glinski. FORMER ROMULUS Township Supervisor and state senator Terry L. Troutt, announced his intention to seek the mayoral post in Romulus early in June. Declaring that Romulus is in a "shocking state of backwardness," Troutt said he will oppose the Carmichael regime.

The Troutt team, composed of Troutt and his seven candidates for office on June 20 pledges a $1 million city-wide recreation program which would include eight city parks.

The Romulus mayoral candidate, Troutt on July 4 said he backed the approval of the storm management program proposed by the Carmichael administration and approved by the city council.

The Roman on July 25 reported that Mayor Carmichael refused to debate his challenger before the city's primary election. Carmichael said the debate would "prove nothing to the voters," since neither candidate would be running in the Aug. 7 primary.

IN AUGUST Romulus' three elected administrative officials, were criticized for violating the city charter in the handling of the city's funds during fiscal 1970-71—the first year Romulus operated under its city charter.

No criminal charges were brought against them.

Three incumbent councilmen were "dumped" from their seats on the council as the voters on Aug. 7 chose 14 candidates to run in the Nov. 6 general election.

Chosen for the general election were incumbents Jimmie C. Raspberry, James C. Stewart, Fred Junior Block and William M. Oakley, along with council hopefuls Richard Butz, Lng Coleman, Donald Treder, Perry C. Gray, Gilbert White, Dolores Ristow, Beverly McAnally, Robert Martin, Joan Lee and Jack Trumble.

Two administrators in Romulus—Clayton

W. Meldrum, director of the building department, and William Pritula, director of the department of public works resigned their posts in September in a tiff over the Nov. 6 general election.

WILLIAM PRITULA, who left his job as head of the department of public works on Sept. 28, criticized Carmichael for making him the "fall guy" in a recently released report which showed the city spent some $800,000 in unauthorized funds during the fiscal 1970-71 year. Pritula said that Carmichael ordered him to make purchases cited as violations of the city charter by state auditors.

DUMPING SPOT—Romulus' reputation as the "dumping ground" for Detroit's murder victims received no help when the bodies of two small boys were found near this intersection last month. This area, like many secluded areas in the city, become attractive to criminals who want to dispose of their victims, even though the city has doubled its police force during the past year. City officials and residents would be overjoyed if the sign at this intersection were heeded and the dumping would stop.—Romulus Roman photo.

Despite boost in police, city gaining 'bad' image

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

Despite continuing efforts by Romulus officials to bolster the city's police force, Romulus has gained an image of a "dumping ground" for bodies in Detroit murder cases.

Early in the year, Romulus Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael announced his intention to add one more unit of the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol to bolster protection.

At its Feb. 27 meeting, the Romulus City Council unanimously approved the expenditure of $210,000 for the addition of a road patrol unit.

AND IN SEPTEMBER, the city council bolstered police protection in the community — bringing its contingent to 32 men and four full-time patrol cars — when it unanimously approved spending another $210,000 to add a fourth unit to the city's three-unit patrol force.

The addition of the fourth unit means that the city will have a total of 36 patrol cars, seven days a week.

Romulus became known as the "dumping ground" for Detroit's murder victims with the discovery of the bodies of two Detroit boys kidnapped from their homes Nov. 30. Three men were arrested in the slayings, but residents of the city expressed concern for Romulus' image with the discovery of bodies in the community for the seventh time during the year.

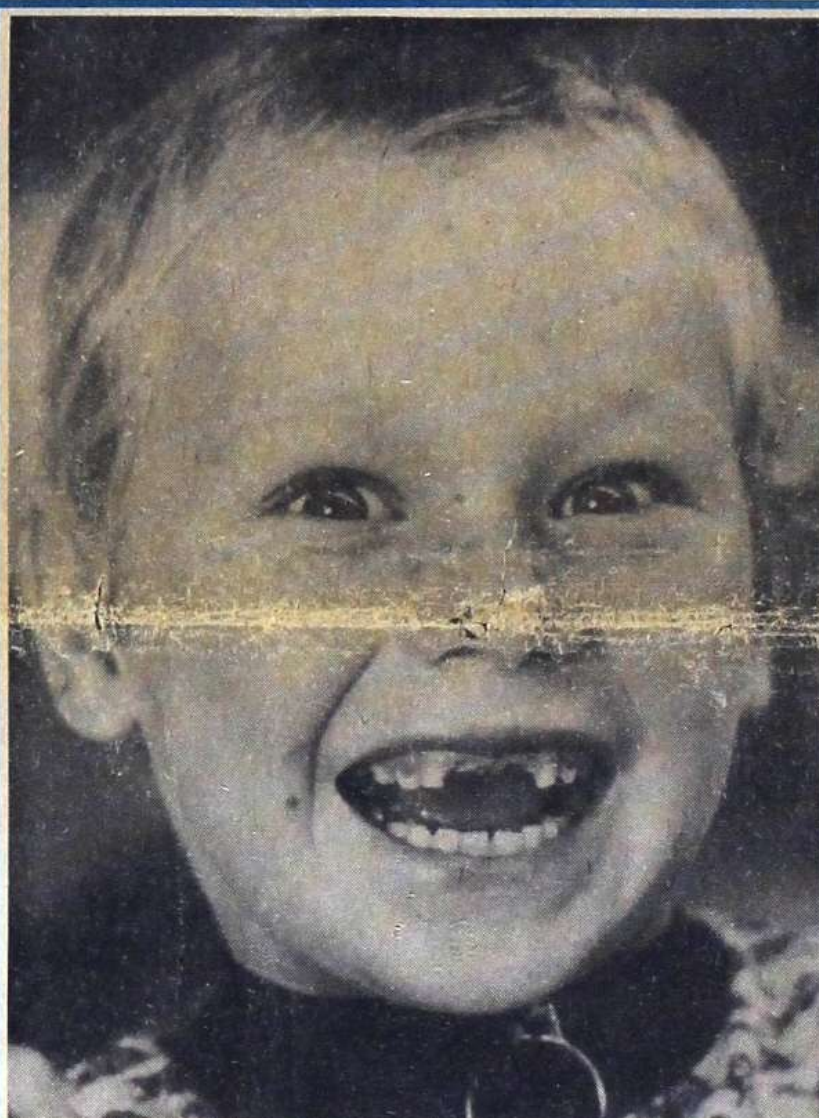

The Romulus City Council decided against taking immediate action to light the area of Beverly and Henry Ruff roads in the city — the area where the bodies of two small Detroit boys were found.

THE COUNCIL instead passed a resolution to urge the county to join with Romulus in accepting an assessment to light the area, which bounds more than 300 acres of county land.

And on Dec. 19, Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt said there is little the city can do to live down its "dumping ground" image so long as there are large areas of land left vacant in the city. But, he called for citizen involvement to help dissuade criminals from doing their deeds in the city.

Other incidents which made the headlines of The Roman during the past year include: —the Jan. 5 objections by residents of the expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport, which would cause the loss of homes for 109 area families and the demolition of 12 business properties between the airport and Eureka Road. —the January veto by (Continued on Page 3) schools. Donald was asked if he could smile at being back in school, and showed the photographer he could. But, Donald also asked that the photographer come back in a few months to get a picture of his new teeth.

Parents make year successful for Romulus School District

By KAY DeBORD
Of The Roman Staff

During the past year, voters in the Romulus Public School Districts answered a board of education plea for an $11½ million bond issue to build three elementary and one junior high school.

Also at the top of the school news list for 1973, aside for students being honored for top grades, and a salute to teachers, parents and students for school projects, is the September teacher strike which ended after a parent picket.

A 15-hour lock-in at the school board offices by angry parents resulted in a marathon bargaining session by the board of education and the Romulus Education Association. The lock-in resulted in the ratification of a teacher contract and the end of a three-week delay in classes.

IN JUNE Romulus voters approved the twice-defeated building bond issue for $11½ million to provide the district with funds for three elementary and a junior high school.

In the same election, Carl Morris, veteran school board incumbent led the ballot for a place on the board of education. Mrs. Gloria Chandler came in second.

At the July meeting of the school board, Mrs. Diane Boger was elected to the presidency of the Romulus Board of Education. She is the first woman to serve in that post.

And in November, the board of education voted to complete the purchase of a 36-acre site on Wick Road for the construction of the new junior high school, part of the $11½-million school expansion program. The option on the land was taken at a cost of $140,000.

Football player's plight highlights year's events

Keeping area residents abreast of happenings in Huron Township. The Romulus Roman has covered the continuing community events which affect residents. Administrative difficulties, tax problems, school activities and human interest stories were contained in the weekly editions for the past year.

Of top interest to Huron residents and others across the state, was the plight of a New Boston football player who's artificial leg caused his benching.

After hearing about the player's plight, The Roman editorially encouraged the courts and the Michigan High School Athletic Association to let Ron Suemnick play.

EVEN THOUGH Huron High School was beaten in its last game against Grosse Ile, the real victory went to Suemnick. He was allowed to close out his prep career on the playing field.

The Roman also editorially urged the renewal of a 10 mill operating package for the Huron School District by voters. The voters accepted the renewal in a special March election. The renewed millage will be in effect through 1977.

In June the administration in Huron Township asked Gov. Milliken to intervene in a dispute between the administration and the Michigan State Tax Commission.

In April the supervisor of Huron Township wrote letters to more than 130 state representatives asking for a hearing on the township's protest of the state tax evaluation factor.

In our opinion

Aroused Americans can curtail the crisis

America must restore the fiber which over the past 198 years has made it the richest and most powerful nation in the world. At this point in the national history, the people — enjoying an unparalleled affluence — have diminished the principle of restraint and their political leaders have lost their will to represent them.

The results have created a mood of hopelessness and despair in the face of a confluence of crises, which are at once a result of and a reprimand for the nation's preoccupation with lesser concerns.

Americans are being forced to demand more of themselves, placing less emphasis on getting and spending and more on the values and conduct of their lives. And the pressure on individuals and their families must be shared by their political leaders. When a single part of a society collapses, the whole is in grave danger.

This editorial, then, is both a statement of the condition and a call to the people to pursue their own self interests as a nation and to demand a positive response from their political and governmental leaders.

Americans of disparate philosophies and personal desires have been responding together to crises — and overcoming them — since the nation was born almost two centuries ago. There have been wars, periods of inflation, economic disasters and assassinations of their political leaders.

Through them all, Americans have kept freedom alive without the panic and without lasting damage to the philosophies enunciated by the founders of the nation.

Now the shortage of energy threatens to debilitate their basic ability to hear their homes, to light their way, to move freely about and, most critical of all, to maintain an economy to support life itself. The crisis is real and growing and, in another context, is testing whether this nation can long endure.

We say: Yes it can and will endure with the awareness of the people and with the revival of leadership among their elected officials.

National spokesmen argue that the series of crises came in a rush, leaving the people unaware of their potential destruction and leaderless in seeking solutions. There was inflation and price-wage controls, the need for an economic conversion to peacetime, the international monetary problem. There was Watergate and its ancillary scandals, the Middle East war and its threat to détente with Russia, the Arab petroleum embargo. These crises produced either contempt or disinterest in a nation grown content and confident with its affluence.

The reason for the national mood was that political leaders, distracted by the emphasis on Watergate, failed to heed the warnings or to see the consequences. Swept along by the frenzy of destructive forces who saw profit for themselves in the internecine scandals in government, they failed to recognize the signs of greater threats of disaster.

Now it is for the people to arouse themselves to concern for their own future, to demand that their leaders at all levels of public life dedicate themselves to the duty they accepted by their oaths.

There must be the establishment of priorities, oil to heat homes of gasoline for transportation, of electricity for illumination to prevent crime or for power to operate business and industry and to maintain jobs to avoid an economic collapse.

Western Wayne County may get circuit court

A circuit court branch is likely to be established in Western Wayne County by 1975, judging from statements made by the county commissioners in approving a plan to provide more downtown space for the court.

The board of commissioners approved the spending of up to $174,000 for an additional courtroom and five more jury deliberation rooms at its meeting. The vote was 18-1, with three abstentions.

Commissioners from districts west of Detroit generally voted for the item, but declared they would continue to press for an out-county courthouse by the time five more circuit judges take office on Jan. 1, 1975.

BOARD CHAIRMAN

Robert E. FitzPatrick said he expects an answer from the state within a week or so regarding his request that the state loan the county $36 million for construction.

His proposal calls for an out-county courthouse, in addition to new jail facilities downtown and out-county, and new psychiatric facilities at Wayne County General Hospital.

Commissioner Tom F. Taylor of Westland tried unsuccessfully to amend the $174,000 item to force the 28-judge circuit bench to publicly poll its members on whether they favored placing two of the five new judges out-county. He alluded to reports that the judges are cool to the idea.

However, Commissioner

Ervin A. Steiner of Grosse Pointe Farms asked if anybody had inquired as to whether the court is "willing to go out-county," and FitzPatrick replied that he did not think so.

TWO COMMISSIONERS—Edward Harris of Taylor, George Hart of Dearborn—introduced a resolution which, if adopted, would bar any further expenditures for downtown court space until a "definite plan" for out-county branch is established.

The resolution also calls for negotiations with the circuit court bench toward agreement on a plan to place "at least some" of the five new court seats in the out-county. It was referred to the board's public safety and judiciary committee for study and a recommendation.

Harris and Hart said the out-county population is expected to exceed Detroit's within a few years.

Concentration of the court in downtown Detroit is "causing great inconvenience to out-county residents involved in court cases and is impeding efficient use of police manpower," their resolution states.

TAYLOR, COMMISSIONERS Mary E. Dumas of Livonia and Catherine Shavers, of Detroit, abstained in the vote on the $174,000 item. Mrs. Dumas said she wanted "assurances" from the court and the state that an out-county courthouse will be established.

Commissioner Paul Silver of Detroit cast the only "no" vote, pointing out that the board appropriated $250,000 for an out-county courtroom in 1972, but that nothing has been done since to implement that decision.

Under the plan, the court's probation department will be moved from the City-County Building to leased space in the nearby Cadillac Towers building. This will free up City-County Building space for the additional courtroom and the five new jury rooms.

One judge has been without his courtroom since taking office last January.

The board of commissioners

also took several other major actions at the meeting which was the last full board meeting for the year.

EXPENDITURE OF

$105,000 was approved to establish a new medical records system at Wayne County General Hospital, as recommended by consultants hired by the board. The consultants reported a huge backlog of incomplete and unfilled records.

The board authorized the prosecuting attorney to appeal the state's rejection of his application for an $84,000 second-year consumer fraud grant. The action set the stage for the board of commissioners to look into "deficiencies" which the state cited in rejecting the grant.

The board authorized the negotiation of contracts for assistance of consultants in planning transportation, housing and health programs for senior citizens under the Wayne County Office on Aging, established recently by the board.

An outlay of $10,048 was approved to match a like amount voted by Detroit's Common Council to enable the Child Care Coordinating Council of Wayne County to obtain a $60,289 state grant to improve care of infants of poor families.

Combined fund arms police with new radios

The installation of four-channel frequency scanners in Belleville police patrol cars will be completed by mid-January.

The scanners, financed through state and federal funding with the city paying 18 per cent of the $12,000 cost, will enable police to remain in radio contact at all times, even while out of the police cars.

The frequency scanners automatically "find" and broadcast police radio activity on any of four different frequencies.

Under the project, patrolmen also will be equipped with portable radios, which can be carried by hand when the men leave the patrol cars.

The city applied for the federal and state grants about four months ago. In addition to the new radio equipment, the city will receive its own police radio frequency starting in January.

The city has been using citizens-band radios for police communication. Belleville Mayor Royce Smith said the radios are inexpensive, and are owned and operated by private citizens across the country.

"Under the citizens-band radio system not only are residents able to monitor police broadcasts, but also broadcast their own messages simultaneously with the police," Smith said. "Somebody's on the citizens-band radios all the time and we sometimes can't hear what our police are saying."

PARENT LOCK-IN—One of the top news pictures of the year in the Romulus Roman shows impatient parents participating in a non-violent lock-in of negotiators at the Romulus Schools' administrative offices on Grant Road. OTHER SCHOOL related activities which made the headlines of The Romulus Roman during 1973 include:
—the June protest by parents in the Wellesley and Birch Run townships about their children being bused to other schools when Cory Elementary School was nearby. The board said the move was considered economically feasible to relieve classroom crowding.
—the Aug. 8 attempt by irate citizens of two Romulus co-operative townhouse developments to recall six members of the Romulus Board of Education after it authorized busing of their children.

—the March 14 decision to suspend and possibly expel students for use of drugs, alcohol and inhalants.
—the decision that two schools under one roof is the answer to the current student housing problem. Eighth and ninth grade students will attend Romulus Junior High and students in grade six and seven will be in the Romulus

Middle School.
—the approval of a more than $7 million budget for 1973-74 for the Romulus Public School District.
—the 50th anniversary of the founding of Romulus Elementary School.
—the request by students at Romulus High School for a voice in decision-making. A series of proposals was presented to the board of education in December. The proposals included a voice in curriculum and the dispensing of funds.

Troutt seeks new snow equipment

Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt, though pleased with the work the city's employees did in cleaning Romulus' 120 miles of thoroughfares during last week's paralyzing snowstorm, is taking action to improve snow removal.
"We don't want to get caught like we did this time, so I'm asking the clerk to put out bids for more snow removal equipment for our trucks," Troutt said. "The DPW did a very good job during the week, but because we lacked equipment, we had to bring in two outside contractors to handle the extra work" he added.
TROUTT SAID he hopes to open bids on three new snowplow attachments by the Jan. 8 city council meeting. "There's no doubt we need this equipment, in light of what we found to be a lack of city equipment," he said. The plows will be the type which can be easily attached to city dump trucks on a moment's notice.

"It will give us three more pieces of equipment and a more flexible response to any snow emergency," he added. "As it is now, the big equipment can't get down the city's subdivision roads. These pieces can be aimed mostly at that type of work, after the major roads have been cleared."
TROUTT SAID the actual cost of the equipment cannot be determined until bids are received from manufacturing companies.
"It will be reasonable, or we won't purchase the equipment immediately," he said.

—approval of a new three-year employment contract for Huron School Supt. Byron K. Antcliff and the creation of the position of administrative assistant to the school superintendent.
—approval and ratification of a contract covering 108 teachers. It provided two per cent retroactive salary boost for last year's wage scales, a cost-of-living raise and a three per cent salary hike for the next school year.
—approval by the township board of trustees of a $1.6 million sewer construction project to be financed by a county-backed bond issue that will be paid off from Huron's general operating fund budget without boosting millage.
—official knowledge on the status of zoning in a segment of the township near Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Despite a day of meetings with U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) heads and representatives of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) in Washington, D.C. township officials learned little.

Train crash kills New Boston man

A New Boston resident was killed and two other persons seriously injured in a car-train accident at the Sumpter Road crossing of the Norfolk and Western Railroad tracks in Belleville.
Dead on arrival Saturday at the Wayne County General Hospital was Willie Harris, 65, of 5600 Oakville-Waltz Rd., New Boston.
Injured in the accident were Harris' wife, Jessie, 63, and Angela Foster, 6, who are in serious condition at the hospital.
According to Belleville Police Chief Clayton (Mickie) McLaughlin, Harris was driving his car north on Sumpter Road and was struck at the crossing by a Norfolk and Western freight train, pulling 46 cars and three engines.
McLaughlin said a witness told police that Harris allegedly drove through the lowered crossing gates and was struck half-way across the tracks.
The train engineer, Tony Rost of Dearborn, told police that the train was traveling between 45 and 49 miles per hour when the accident happened.

Residents remember lake

For those who saw the road, the sight won't be forgotten. And for those who spent the summer around Belleville Lake, the year 1973 will be remembered for its excitement, its treasures and its smell.
That's right, for its smell—the smell of tons of fish killed by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, first accidentally in an attempt to clear up-stream Ford Lake of its "trash" fish and second in its plans to create a $1.5 million recreational center in Western Wayne County.

Paving nears completion

This year's street paving and storm drain program in the City of Belleville, supported by the voters, is nearly 85 per cent complete, according to Belleville Mayor Royce E. Smith.
The project not only results in all city streets being paved, but also will correct and eliminate the flooding of basements and overflow of sewage in Belleville Lake.

School activities rocky

School activities in the area have been rocky, but progressive during the year, with a 12-day teacher strike in the Van Buren Public School District and a continuing contract dispute topping the list.

We're all looking forward to the New Year with aspirations...dreams. May every challenge become a success as you enter those new horizons.

A continuing tragedy

Legislature plays ...at voters' expense

LANSING — It is not unknown for a legislator to turn to the mischievous nectar to soothe a troubled psyche after a day of high purpose and noble cause.

And it's not unusual for the Senate to turn on Gov. William G. Milliken.

But combining the two efforts on the last day of the fall session was terrible timing and critics tended to interpret one as cause and the other as effect.

THE SENATE KNOCKED off Milliken-backed bills creating a superagency of health and welfare departments, political reform and administrative solutions to the energy crisis.

So Senator Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, charged that Democrats had tarried overlong at pre-Christmas parties in the capitol. Democrats retorted that it was a blatant lie.

It was like a traffic cop concluding that because a turn signal is blinking somebody is making a U-turn in the garage.

'Instead of who's on first, it's who's in jail now?'

The irony was that Zollar cast the whole business in a political light, since raising the beaker is one of the purest nonpartisan things legislators are likely to achieve. Some of these guys have musclebound elbows.

Neither party condones on-the-job drinking and neither has the embarrassment market all locked up.

THE REAL TRAGEDY is that the entire legislature has become an Abbott and Costello gig. Instead of who's on first, it's who's in jail now? And the voters keep sending them back, so it's easy to conclude they're getting the kind of government they deserve.

Senator Basil Brown, D-Detroit, was picked up for public drunkenness in the parking lot of an East Lansing fast-food business, the site of an earlier arrest for drunk driving.

Brown has had that kind of trouble before. At one time in the mid-1960s, he voluntarily surrendered his drivers license. It's poignant because Brown is a brilliant legislator, with blander stimuli.

Rep. Frank V. Wierzbicki, D-Detroit, was arrested for driving the wrong way on a one-way street next to the capitol and refusing to take a breathalyzer test. It was storming that night, outside, too.

REP. DALE WARNER, R-Eaton Rapids, was arrested last spring in a Lansing motel on a drug charge and is now awaiting trial.

The Senate appointed a special committee to study whether to oust Senator Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, following his conviction on a charge of trying, with others, to bribe Stanley G. Thayer, chairman of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Despite constitutional language inserted following the denial of a Senate seat to Tony Wilkowski for a felony conviction, the Senate declined to boot Youngblood. He serves on collecting his pay.

There are some in the capitol who argue that the Lansing police are out after Brown in particular and legislators in general. That will be part of Warner's public defense.

Senator Philip O. Pittenger, R-Lansing, was part of the embarrassment when it came to light he drew $700 in Senate money for a trip to the west coast, then deposited it in his personal checking account.

HE SAID HE DIDN'T make the trip and was too preoccupied to give the $700 back to the state until it was discovered.

Zollar saw his chance to make drinking a political issue and he took it, thus absolving even the straightest of Senators from censure for voting against Milliken. The House has always been easier on the governor.

To avoid such embarrassments as the Zollar shot, the legislative leadership can make certain the troops are standing tall and sober ready to do the people's business.

And a little deeper judgment on the part of the voters would help.

As we see it

Sumpter's gesture deserves praise

A few weeks ago Sumpter Township Supervisor Robert Marble accompanied nine officials from neighboring Huron Township on a trip to the nation's capital.

Although little was gained from the visit to Washington, in the term of assisting Huron's sewer project, good came out in another form; namely, community understanding and the assuming of responsibility.

The original purpose of the visit by Marble and Donald Trim, township engineer, was to persuade government officials to grant Sumpter additional time to establish a sewer program before demanding repayment of already-spent funds.

According to the talks with Environmental Agency officials, Huron owes $126,000 to the federal agency because Sumpter did not tap into the large federal-locked Huron interceptor which ran to the Sumpter line...part of a previous Huron-Sumpter sewer project. Marble said his visit to Washington was to help Huron because the trouble the neighboring township finds itself in at the present was caused by Sumpter's earlier pullout of the joint 1968 sewer plan.

While the federal government plays its game of "go by our rules or else," some good came out of that Washington mission...it proves neighboring communities want to work together if the federal government would let them alone.

The original sewer project grant stipulated that Sumpter must tie into the line. Now the government wants a portion of the money back—though Marble asked: "Give us time to initiate a sewer project."

But the government turned deaf to the request, and in essence...to the citizens of Huron and Sumpter townships.

Peddlers of drugs a threat to society

At a recent board of education session, the question of drugs and "cruising car" problems at Belleville High School caught the attention of Van Buren board members.

And to help counter the problem, the board was forced to approve the hiring of a full-time parking lot attendant at the high school.

Its bad enough when business places are forced to hire security guards to protect their businesses from vandals and for the protection of customers; but now public tax dollars must be funded to employ the services of an attendant—to ward off the peddlers of despair and joy-riding students.

In no way do we take the board to task for its action, it's just unfortunate such action was necessary.

Some years ago the duty of a teacher or school administrator was merely to govern educational activity and programming—but each new year the responsibility swells.

There is no room in our society for peddlers of dangerous drugs, especially to unsuspecting students.

May we suggest to our readers that the next time you detect someone to be a peddler of drugs, call the police to get the peddlers off our school grounds and sent where they can bring no harm to society.

The child you save from a drug peddler, might be your own...

A mood for peace still prevails

War hawks in Israel and Egypt eye peace talks

By TOM OCHILTREE
Eagle Washington Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON — Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., believes the leaders of Israel and Egypt are "in a compromising mood" and stand a reasonable chance of working out a settlement if hawkish political opponents within their own countries don't push them too hard.

Nedzi reached his assessment on the basis of a recent visit to the war-torn Middle East where he and 19 other members of the House Armed Services Committee had a chance to make a first hand study of various aspects of the October War.

Separate meetings with Israeli Premier Golda Meir and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat constituted the high points of the congressmen's trip. These sessions were conducted with a question and answer format similar to that employed at press conferences.

NEDZI SAID HE found room for hope in the answers of both Mrs. Meir and Sadat. However, he added this word of caution:

"A complicated political situation exists in both countries with the Israelis having a national election Dec. 31. I expect we will hear some strong language from both sides in the immediate future and there may even be some more fighting prior to a settlement.

"The two leaders seem to be adopting positions which should be amenable to negotiation. The problem actually comes down to one of leadership. The Hawks on both sides feel that if their country was turned loose it would wipe out the other country."

Nedzi made his comments in an exclusive interview shortly before the scheduled side apparently is willing officially to recognize Israel's right to exist within recognized borders but has not been more specific than that.

Nedzi heard Sadat say: "We know Israel is a fact." Presumably, this represented public acknowledgement of a change in Egyptian opening of the middle east peace conference in Geneva. That conference is expected to be a long and complicated one.

'Some of the places we visited we were met with applause by the Egyptians.'

At Friday's opening of the Geneva Peace Talks, the conference opened with taunts and threats hurled by the Jews and Arabs. But peace negotiators continue to express hope that genuine peace will eventually come—despite the war of words at the first meeting in 25 years (at the peace table) between Arab and Jew.

BASICALLY, ISRAEL, after a quarter of a century of stormy life, wants peace with security including normal diplomatic relations with her Arab neighbors and a free flow of travelers and commerce. The Arab policy which formerly called for the complete destruction of Israel.

"If the Israelis give us our lands back we are prepared to live in peace," Sadat said. He added that Egypt possessed only limited resources which could better be used in strengthening the nation's peacetime economy rather than in preparing and waging war.

Raps rowdy teenagers

To the Editor: I'd like to make a complaint. Everytime I try to cooperate with the Beverly Elementary School P.T.O., I walk away in disgust.

First of all, there always is a big crowd of teenagers standing around the school entrance door, mostly boys talking loud and using the kind of language I prefer not repeating. And it's the kind of language I do not want my child to hear.

Secondly, from what I observe, there is little respect shown to the school principal. No one listens when the principal attempts to quiet down the noise. They just keep jabbing away and give you that daring look.

The other night I attended the school Christmas concert, and I couldn't find a place to sit. These same so-called students had their feet resting on the front seats and just laughed when I asked if they would please move their feet.

The true meaning of brotherhood is respecting the desires of others, and some of our students at Beverly School talk of brotherhood, but it's just talk.

Discouraged Mother
Romulus

Don't give up! Bev McNally shows how to win election

By MITCH KEHETIAN
Enterprise-Roman Editor

A few days before the general election in Romulus I received a call from Beverly McNally—a candidate for city council.

At first I expected the usual: "Why didn't your newspaper endorse me." Instead she complimented the Enterprise-Roman for having the conviction to state publicly who it considered the best for Romulus.

BEVERLY FINISHED 14th in the August primary, and in doing so grabbed the last qualifying slot to give it another try in the city's November run-off.

And if anyone suggested Beverly would make the council, at that juncture, they'd have to be a personal friend or a campaign worker...we surmised.

But she did make the council...and stunned most everyone, including this writer, by finishing first in the council race.

How did Beverly McNally go from 14th to first? A recent issue of the Romulus High School student newspaper probably assessed Bev's victory better than the so-called political observers, when the "Overground" proclaimed:

"PROBABLY THE MOST outstanding lesson we can learn from Bev's council presidency is that the people of Romulus will respond to a campaign which isn't run by slurring other candidates. Instead, Bev chose to run an honest, fair campaign, based on her merits alone."

Going from 14th to first truly deserves merit, even at this late stage after the November campaign.

While we applaud Beverly's stunning victory, she also deserves credit for helping others get into office.

When Beverly finished 14th in the primary, she joined the Troutt campaign team in hopes that running with a team she might make it to the council.

BUT WE KNOW WHAT happened on election day. She jumped from 14th to first and with a resounding 2,572 votes to her credit...only 219 votes less than winning mayoral candidate Terry Troutt.

Though we would agree the Troutt team candidacy helped Beverly McNally, we also know her quality character and campaign style helped Troutt and the new mayor's team morose.

Several weeks after the election, a McNally campaign worker called me with this comment: "You thought Bev wasn't good enough for an endorsement. I guess she showed you and the Enterprise-Roman."

"I BELIEVE BEVERLY did better than that. She proved again that one should never discount a solid quality candidate because of a poor primary showing."

If Mayor Troutt and his other winning team candidates failed to "thank" Beverly for "helping the team," then we suggest they do so.

And if the losing Carmichael team candidates are still trying to determine what went wrong on election day, we suggest they take another look at the final results—they too would have to agree Beverly McNally helped pull the Troutt team across the finish line.

NOT BAD FOR A candidate who just made the primary—buried in 14th place. And who finished on top in the race that counted.

Mrs. McNally, 46, ran a door-to-door campaign in the general election. And for funds, she held rummage sales, card parties—and got people involved.

It's no wonder the Jaycee Auxiliary named Beverly McNally the "woman of the year" long before the election. I guess the judges of that contest knew Bev's qualities better than the political strategists...yours truly included.

BEVERLY, A FORMER correspondent for The Enterprise-Roman, has been a Romulus resident for 12 years. She and her husband, Earl, are the parents of three children. She is a graduate of Southeast High School in Kansas Mo., and attended the University of Kansas and the Kansas City Art Institute.

Her free-lance stories have appeared in several Detroit area newspapers, and they've drawn praise from those in the Fourth Estate.

Beverly also finds time to do volunteer work for the good of the Romulus school district, the students and parent-teacher associations.

THE ROMULUS STUDENT newspaper "Overground" said it like this: "Her list of services to our community is long, but she does not take the attitude that the people of Romulus owe her anything. She simply claims to be a good motivator of people and we agree..."

What more can we say. The "Overground" said it for us. Sometimes young persons see the good of people better than the adult world.

SOME HAVE TABBED Beverly's stunning first place finish an "upset." We call it a people's victory. What else can you label a 14th to first place climb to win the council presidency.

We also salute Beverly's stunning "people's victory" as the top human-interest news story of 1973.

Bill jeopardizes rivers Ecologists urge non-support

The Huron River Watershed Council has issued an appeal to concerned citizens urging non-support of a recently passed Senate bill or similar House version which jeopardizes Michigan's Natural Rivers Act.

The appeal was issued by Owen C. Jansson, executive secretary of the Huron River Watershed Council.

Michigan Natural Rivers Act was passed by the legislature in 1970 to protect the scenic and natural values of Michigan's rivers.

The state felt that such protection could be accomplished by influencing the nature of development along the immediate shorelines, Jansson said.

The program, in cooperation and partnership with Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) which provided technical assistance and policy guidelines, was implemented by local governments through their zoning ordinances.

Senate Bill 419, entitled the "Natural Areas Preservation Act," if passed by both legislative branches, effectively would kill the Natural Rivers Act and have important consequences on the Huron River watershed and its inhabitants, Jansson said.

The bill also undermines approach procedures of the Natural Rivers Act by stipulating that all natural river areas designated under the act be purchased or otherwise acquired by the state.

"The prohibitive costs involved in such an approach amounts to a negation of the current program," Jansson said. "The cooperative state-local relationship and the ability of local units of government to modify land use in the public interest through zoning both would be replaced by a scheme of total public ownership."

He said that the Huron River Watershed Council is concerned about the subversion of sound environmental planning from a very immediate standpoint. The Huron River has been placed on a priority study list by the DNR for designation under the Natural Rivers Act. The Watershed Council is spearheading efforts at the local level to have portions of the Huron River designated as in a natural state under the act.

Trustees to approve lake-park agreement

A special meeting of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees will be held this week for the formal adoption of a resolution approving the ownership transfer of Belleville Lake and Edison Pointe Park from the Detroit Edison Co. to the township.

Van Buren Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer said he hopes to hold the meeting today or tomorrow.

Lawyers for township and Edison as well as Gollwitzer and Ben Robertson, community planner have been meeting at Edison's Detroit offices to finalize the legal paperwork for the transfer. Gollwitzer said the lawyers are trying to get the official transfer completed by the end of the year.

Six-mile long Belleville Lake has 20 miles of shoreline running through Van Buren Township and along the north shore of Belleville. Edison Pointe Park is a 101-acre recreational site located on the lake's north shore.

Under a tentative agreement approved by the township board, Edison will use a 20-acre section of the park for employee training. In addition, the employees will have access to the entire park area and existing shoreline facility bounded by the park throughout the 1974 year.

According to the agreement, the township will pay nothing for the lake and park.

Board considers 4 zoning requests

The Van Buren Township Board of Zoning Appeals will consider four requests for variances of the township zoning ordinance at its next regular meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. Jan. 3.

Nassau honeymoon follows nuptial rite

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Waltz was the setting for the December 1 wedding of Diane Susan Gall and Ronald Merle Cook, both of New Boston.

The double ring rite united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gall of 17925 Huron River Drive and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Cook of 2320 Oakville-Waltz Road.

Sharing the clergyman's duties were the Rev. Leonard F. Weigel from St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Taylor and Pastor H. John Schaible of St. John's.

FORMING THE background for the six o'clock nuptials were lighted Christmas trees and poinsettia plants with candles marking the central pews.

Organ music for the occasion was played by Doug Brown with 'The Lord's Prayer' being sung by Wayne Fawcett. 'The Wedding Song' and an original number written especially for the couple were sung by Gary Whitehouse, one of the groomsmen, who accompanied himself on the guitar.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, Diane appeared in a gown of silk organza fashioned with an empire waistline, semi-full aproned skirt and bodice of Chantilly lace, the high neckline accented with pearl clusters and the Victorian sleeves ending in wide cuffs.

A Juliet cap secured her double-tiered chapel-length veil and a small cascade of Stephanotis, baby carnations, baby's breath, miniature red roses and ivy comprised her bridal bouquet.

CAROL GALL as her sister's honor attendant wore a green velvet gown fashioned in the empire mode with a white satin collar and matching French-style cuffs. In lieu of the usual bouquet, she carried a hurricane lantern centered with a lighted candle and surrounded by greens, holly and pine cones.

Bridesmaids in identical red velvet ensembles were Mrs. Michael Dalton of Flat Rock; Mrs. Mark Patterson of New Boston, sister of the bridegroom; and Cynthia Gall of Lincoln Park and Joanne Gall of Romulus, both cousins of the bride.

Flowergirl, dressed in a miniature version of the senior attendants' frocks, was Jennie Burton, daughter of the Robert Burtons of Richmond, Indiana.

Carrying out the role of ringbearer was Joseph Shermak, son of the Ralph Shermaks of Brighton.

BEST MAN was Rod Lange of Taylor. The corps of ushers included Gary Whitehouse, Mark Patterson, the bridegroom's brother-in-law and Rick Darrough, all of New Boston; and Michael Dalton of Flat Rock.

Mrs. Gall chose for her daughter's wedding a formal gown of deep blue velvet, the sleeveless bodice topped with a short over-jacket. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Cook, donned a white satin blouse and long gold velvet skirt with a matching vest. Both were honored with corsages of white carnations accented with Christmas touches.

Following their reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wayne, the newlyweds departed for a four-day honeymoon at Nassau in the Bahamas.

THE NEW MRS. Cook was graduated from Huron High School in 1971 and Monroe County Community College in 1973. She received an associate of commerce degree in business and was a member of Phi Theta Kappa Honorary Society. She is currently employed at Detroit Delivery, Inc. of Detroit. Her husband, also a 1971 Huron High alumnus, is an employee of U.S. Storm Sash and Building Company of Romulus.

Millers honored on golden year

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller Sr. of 239 Second St., Belleville, was celebrated at a dinner and family gathering at the Masonic Temple on Sunday, December 16. The gala affair was hosted by the couple's three children, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Miller Jr. of Glenside, Pa., who were unable to attend because of a severe storm in the East; Mrs. Aileen Mengel of Ann Arbor, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Miller of Garden City.

About 50 relatives, including grandchildren, sisters, brothers, nieces and nephews of the honored couple, sat down to a bountiful dinner, topped off with a beautiful wedding cake complete with wedding bells.

A granddaughter, Kathleen Miller, from Charleston, South Carolina, cut and served the cake. She also presented her grandparents with a corsage and boutonniere and presented Mrs. Mabel Steller of Garden City and August Kadau of Romulus, the attendants at their wedding, with their flowers.

GUESTS WERE present from Colon, Dearborn, Livonia, Allen Park, Grosse Isle, Wyandotte, Bay City, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Romulus, Belleville and Charleston, SC.

Hazel Dolph and Norman Miller were married December 19, 1923, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Dearborn and have lived all their married life in this community, having moved recently to Second St. from W. Huron River Dr.

Besides their three children their family tree consists of 10 grandchildren, five grandsons and five granddaughters and one great-granddaughter.

They also received messages of congratulations from President Richard Nixon and Governor William Milliken.

Camp Crawford to get 'face lift'

Facilities at Camp Crawford, the 10-acre campsite owned by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, will undergo renovations costing nearly $10,000 during the winter, it was announced by Council President, Mrs. Louis Galan.

Camp Crawford, located on Crane Road between Willis and Bemis Roads in southeastern Washtenaw County, is used by area Girl Scouts primarily for primitive camping in tents pitched on the ground and daytime activities such as hiking, outdoor cooking, ecology projects and the like.

Among the improvements slated are fencing and posting camp boundaries, expanded lavatory facilities, repairing and painting two open shelters, and repairing the entrance road and parking lot. Money for the renovation will come from Girl Scout Cookie Sale profits.

A VOLUNTEER committee composed of Girl Scouts and Camp Crawford neighbors will do some of the repair work and watch over the property. A petition signed by 13 Camp Crawford neighbors asking that the Council retain its ownership of the land and volunteering to assist with its maintenance was received recently by the Council Board of Directors.

Camp Crawford is available for use by all Girl Scouts in the Huron Valley Council area which includes Washtenaw, Livingston, western Wayne and northern Monroe counties.

Other Huron Valley Council camps are the 400-acre Camp Linden in Livingston County near Linden which has 10 buildings and other facilities for resident camping, as well as primitive camping, and the 7-acre Camp Hilltop on North Main Street in Ann Arbor which has a single troop house and is used primarily for day camping.

MR. AND MRS. DALE A. RENNELL

At Methodist Church

Rennell-Kureth vows read in candlelight

The Thanksgiving week-end was chosen by Kathleen Laurie Kureth for her marriage to Dale Arthur Rennell of Asheville, North Carolina. The First United Methodist Church of Belleville was reserved for the couple's six o'clock ceremony which was read in a candlelight setting.

Lighted tapers added a glow to each of the windows in the church with the altar and sanctuary appointed with candles and bouquets of white gladiolus and mums.

The November 24 nuptial rite was conducted by the Rev. Joy E. Arthur before some 150 assembled guests. Mrs. Connie Hill Kinzel came from Chattanooga, Tennessee to be part of the bridal coterie and to serve as soloist during the ceremony. Accompanied by Mrs. Ben Scott of Romulus at the organ, she sang "The Wedding Song" and "Turn Around, Look at Me."

PARENTS OF the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Kureth of 1109 E. Huron River Drive, proprietors of Kureth's Apparel of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. James Rennell of Birmingham.

Entering the church with her father, Kathy appeared in a toe-touching creation of silk peau de soie enhanced with Alencon lace. Lace formed the high neckline and shoulders of the little fitted illusion bodice. The lace motif was also used as inserts on the long bishop sleeves and on the train which swirled to chapel length.

A Camelot hat of lace over peau de soie held the bride's three-tiered silk illusion veil which drifted to mid-back length. Completing her bridal ensemble was a cascade of white fugi mums, poms and ivy.

The maid of honor, Barbara Thetford of Ypsilanti, was distinguished by her arm bouquet of gold mums. Bridesmaids, Mrs. June Rennell of Royal Oak, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. Alyce Salinas of Taylor; and Mrs. Connie Kinzel carried arm arrangements of gold and bronze-toned mums.

THEIR GOWNS, identically made, were of emerald green velvet designed with Juliet sleeves and high, ruffled necklines traced with gold braid. The gold was repeated in the little mesh vests which accented the one-piece frocks. Their green shoulder-length tulle veils were caught to green velvet Camelot headresses. The bridegroom asked his brother, Gerald Rennell of Royal Oak, to serve as best man. Others on the esquire side were another brother, Dean Rennell of Birmingham; Rodney Salinas of Taylor; and Ron Kinzel of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Kureth received in a gold lame sleeveless gown topped with a companion jacket with long sleeves. Her handbag and shoes were in gold and her corsage was of cymbidium orchids in brown and gold shades. The bridegroom's mother chose to wear a formal gown of lilac boucle knit with gold accessories. Her cymbidium orchids were in ivory tones.

THE RECEPTION and buffet supper were held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The following day the newlyweds flew back to Asheville, North Carolina where both are employed. Kathy at Lerner's of Asheville and Dale at E.T.L. Corporation as an area sales representative.

The new Mrs. Rennell was graduated from Belleville High School and Washtenaw Community College where she majored in business administration. Her husband, an alumnus of Seaholm High in Birmingham, attended Western Michigan University and served for three years with the U.S. Army.

New series dramatizes public health research

A major new prime TV series on health designed for an adult audience is being developed by the Children's Television Workshop (CTW), creators of "Sesame Street," and will premiere on the nation's 240 public broadcasting stations beginning in the fall of 1974.

Joan Ganz Cooney, president of the Workshop, said that a total of 26 original, hour-long programs will be created for the series' first experimental season, providing practical health information in an entertaining and instructional form.

She said the series, which is budgeted through its first season at $7 million for research, development and production phases, as "the most ambitious attempt to use television on a regular basis to convey health information."

The program is expected to be shown during early evening viewing hours and may be repeated once or twice during the same week at different times to reach the widest possible audience.

Special community level followup projects and nationwide distribution of program-related printed materials will supplement the weekly video message, Mrs. Cooney said.

Funding for the program to date has come from ten major sources, seven of which are foundations. They are: Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, Edna McConnell Clark Foundation, Commonwealth Fund, John and Mary R. Markle Foundation, Van Ameringen Foundation, Ittleson Foundation and the Great Foundation.

Other sources include the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, Aetna Life and Casualty Co. and the Exxon Corporation.

While neither title nor final format has yet been decided on, Mrs. Cooney said the projected series would be as unlike the standard TV health program as Sesame Street and The Electric Company are unlike any previous forms of educational programming.

As with other CTW programs, the health series will employ a variety of proven entertainment techniques, ranging from music and dance to drama and documentary, in presenting its informational material.

William Kobin, vice president of CTW's Future Works Division who is responsible for development of the project, said a primary target audience of the program will be the young parents who play major roles in the general health and nutritional well-being of their immediate families. The needs and problems of the poverty family will be of particular concern to the producers, he said.

"The overall objectives of the series is to get people to improve the level of their own health and that of the family. Health is closely related to life-style and the individual has much greater power than most people realize to maintain his or her own health and to prevent illness," he said.

"The series will also explore means of gaining access to the nation's health delivery system and examine some of the new aspects of that system."

Once the series is on the air, community oriented projects will be organized by the Workshop whose field service staff, formed originally to establish the extensive and loyal inner-city audiences enjoyed by Sesame Street and The Electric Company, will enlist local health agencies and neighborhood groups to help coordinate followup projects. These will be conducted in conjunction with local public television outlets.

Promotional materials, including printed program guides for mass distribution, a series of instructional posters and other special publications are planned to help reinforce the health messages contained in the series.

The jazz king

Count Basie will perform

"The most explosive force in Jazz" will perform at the Music Hall Center, at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 10.

Count Basie has led a big band for 38 years and has gained a global reputation for his undying allegiance to the beat. Basie's simple elliptical piano style and the driving impetus of a great rhythm section were the qualities that established the band and continue to make it the best in the world.

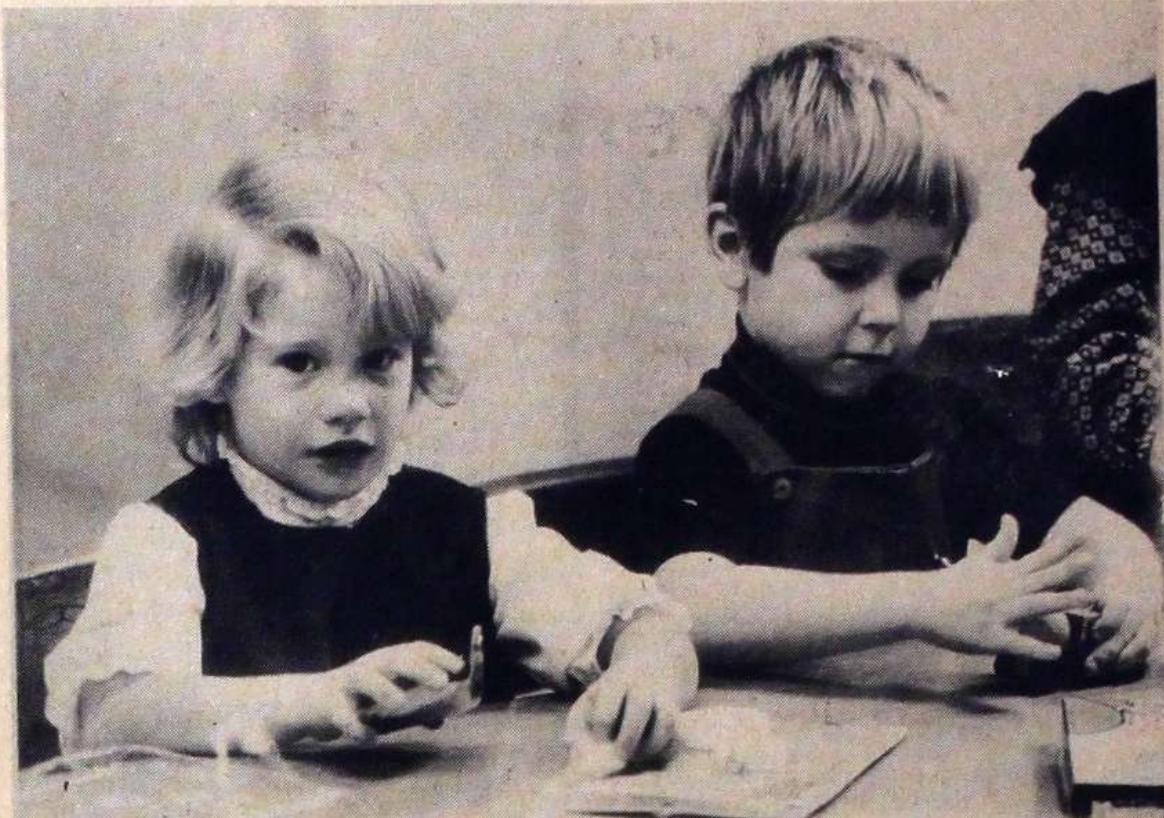

Basie and his band have broad appeal. The fire of his rhythm is infectious and his music high in melodic content. He has maintained his loyalty to the blues as a basic form.

William "Count" Basie led his first band in 1935. By 1938, he had astounded music lovers with a new kind of music, "jump rhythm." He first performed at Carnegie Hall in 1939, starting the trend of Jazz concerts. He has appeared with other great stars of this era, such as Harry James, Benny Goodman, Clark Gable, Sammy Davis, Jr., Frank Sinatra, and Ella Fitzgerald. Acclaimed on concerts and nightclub stages all over the world, Basie played at the inaugural ball of President Kennedy in 1961.

Count Basie, who has established himself as a modern music immortal, won the Downbeat International Critics Poll for four consecutive years. All the greatest records of the band's history are available on LP on many labels.

Tickets are available at Hudson's, Grinnell's, the Music Hall Box Office, 350 Madison Avenue, or call 963-7680. Student and senior citizen rates are available.

Slow registration may force recreation class cutbacks

Unless registrations in various winter recreational programs sponsored by the Van Buren Township Recreation Department increase soon the township may be forced to cancel some of the courses.

William Loyd, recreational director, stated that some of the scheduled programs are below expected registrations and if enrollment doesn't pick up they may have to be delayed or cancelled.

Loyd added that the inclement weather of the last few days may have prompted township residents to delay registering at the township hall, but said that persons wishing to enter any of the recreational programs may register by mail.

He urged the more than 300 youngsters, who took up instructional swimming during the summer season, to continue their instructions in the advanced beginners, intermediate and swimmers classes.

Some of the recreational programs offered include: scuba diving, karate, sewing, small engine repair and woods and shop. Christmas gifts of saws and tools can be put to good use in the latter two classes.

Guitar for beginners and advanced beginners, dance, tap dance, ballet intermediate and modern and jazz for 12-year-olds are just a few of the youthful classes available. For adults only there's physical fitness, physical recreation, beginner's swimming (for women), square dance and modern dance and exercise classes still available. For further information on the programs call 699-2001.

To appear at concert

Comedian Victor Borge has starred for 'kings'

Victor Borge, who has been cited by royalty and feted by presidents, will present "Comedy in Music" at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 4 at Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts.

Over the past 30 years, Borge has appeared before audiences in the United States, Europe, and the Far East. He has learned that there is a fine balance between the concert music he performs, and the convulsive comedy he seems to stir up so effortlessly.

HIGHLY REPUTED as a distinguished keyboard artist, Borge's inimitable brand of humor, so universally accepted and understood by audiences, has also earned him the title of "International Comedian."

Appearing with Borge will be the coloratura soprano, Marylyn Mulvey.

Borge has been knighted by the Kings of Denmark, Norway, and Sweden, and has become known as the "Ambassador Plenipotentiary" from the United States, twice being honored by the U.S. Congress.

New Year's 'fun time' set for United Church

A family-style New Year's Eve party has been planned for the Community United Methodist Church on Olive Street in Romulus.

The party will begin at 9 p.m. Monday with a "fun time" until 11:30 in the church basement, followed by a worship service, which will last until midnight.

The party is being sponsored by the Adult Sunday School class under the direction of Bill Bradley and will include refreshment and games to "ring in the new year."

Children pay a visit to 'castle'

More than 250 children attended the third annual Romulus Community Workers' Santa's Castle Workshop.

The workshop, held at Beverly Elementary School Dec. 15, allowed children to meet Santa and Mrs. Claus, and purchase inexpensive gifts for their loved ones.

Sponsored by the Family and Neighborhood Services in Romulus, the community workers are dedicated to "helping others while helping ourselves."

Most gifts were donated or made by volunteers.

Student concert

Piano students of Pearl Morris of Romulus and Pearl Varner of Belleville were featured in the annual recital at Miss Morris' home on Huron River Drive South last week.

Receiving awards were: Donna LeValley, Carla Hay and Debbie Zilka for the most perfect lessons; and Bridget Forintos, Carla Hay, Donna LeValley, Mary Renke, Jessica Simonson, and Debbie Zilka for one year's perfect attendance.

Lawmakers post impressive tally

By GARY M. OWEN
State Representative
22nd District

Tax relief and education legislation have keynoted Michigan legislative action in 1973. During the 125 days of official 1973 session days, more than 2,500 bills have been introduced. As of Dec. 6, 160 of those have been signed into law. A review of some of the year's accomplishments proves encouraging.

On 1973 income tax returns, a 60 per cent credit will be given for any home property taxes over 3.5 per cent of the household's income. The credit can reach up to $500, and especially will benefit senior citizens, and other persons with incomes which are low compared to their property taxes. In addition, 1974 paychecks will show the benefits of the $300 increase in the personal exemption on state income tax.

The educational scene has been dominated partially by the crippling financial problems facing the Detroit and Harper Woods school districts, and by teachers strikes this fall.

EMERGENCY MEASURES early last spring kept the schools open. Similarly those districts unable to open school in time for this fall's fourth Friday count because of strikes have gained relief through the enactment of House Bill 4408. Since that count determines the official number of students in a district for purposes of figuring state school aid to be paid to the district, the bill was necessary to allow the count to be taken at a later time.

Vocational education was funded at $9.5 million more than last year, bringing the total funding for 1973-74 to $17.5 million. An $800,000 increase also was granted for transporting students to the skill centers where vocational programs are conducted.

This means Michigan high school students will receive even greater opportunities to train for future careers before graduation and be able to enter the workstream quick and gain employment in higher skilled, more productive jobs. DRUG AND alcoholism programs have been provided for by $8.6 million in special funding and the creation of a Drug Abuse and Alcoholism Agency.

A Human Services Department also will be created to consolidate and streamline the functions of the present Departments of Social Services, Public Health and Mental Health.

Before the present energy shortage became a major issue, Michigan enacted a measure to better regulate gas and oil wells. Now 11 additional employees in the Geological Survey Division, paid for by a one per cent tax on the value of all gas and oil wells, will better enforce state regulation of the wells.

This legislation came in response to the state's inability to react quickly and decisively to the public safety threat of the gas eruptions around the town of Williamsburg.

Emergency energy legislation is now passing through the legislative process, and more measures to define the state's role in dealing with energy production and usage will be taken up in 1974.

The Vietnam veterans' bonus may again appear on the ballot. Just passed by the House, the present proposal calls for a $180 million bond issue benefitting the 422,849 veterans serving during the period from 1961 through 1973. It would provide bonuses of $600 to combat and up to $480 to non-combat veterans.

Romulus's continuing Education

Programs attract adults

A scratch of the head and a turn of a knob. Three Romulus residents have this and much more in common with more than 600 other city residents.

They all took part in the fall semester of the Romulus Community School District Continuing Education Program.

Evening academic classes continue to attract the largest number of adult students with 195 enrolled for high school completion courses, said William Smith, community school director for the program.

LAST YEAR, 38 adults received high school diplomas through continuing education and the number of diplomas issued this year should be even greater.

Other academic programs available to Romulus area residents include day-time classes at Romulus Public Library and various academic courses offered at the Kelsey-Hayes Company.

Classes at Kelsey-Hayes are serving 47 employees in the areas of math, English and government.

Another program designed to improve adult skills in beginning reading and writing is called adult basic education and had 38 students enrolled for the fall semester.

General Education Development (GED) testing is another service of the Romulus continuing education program with 11 out of 18 students tested successfully passing the examination in the fall semester.

GED REVIEW classes are offered in the adult night school. All academic classes being offered attempt to cover many of the subject areas included in the GED test.

Several hobby activities are offered at the senior high school during the evening. Among the favorites this fall were yoga, crocheting, powderpuff mechanics and belly dancing.

While academic classes are free to non-graduates, Smith said that hobby classes are supported through nominal fees.

Information about the winter activities of the Romulus Continuing Education program can be obtained by calling Smith at 941-1600, ext. 37.

Vacation has early beginning

The annual Christmas vacation for students attending Van Buren Public Schools is officially under way.

City's 'dumping' image concerns officials

Metropolitan Airport's parking lots have turned into more than a place for travelers to leave their cars. It, like secluded portions of Romulus, is another "dumping ground" for murder victims.

"I think they've found five bodies out there in the past four or five years," said Bob Procarone, manager of the lot.

ROMULUS CITY officials are concerned about the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, as well as the image the dumping of bodies has given the community.

"There has to be something we can do," said Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt. "It's the city's problem, because every story about a murder victim says he's found in Romulus, whether or not it's Romulus people who do the deed."

"Although I believe we have a safe city, people may be afraid to come out here, because of the poor publicity."

But Troutt, and other elected officials think the city needs some help in resolving the problem.

SHORTLY AFTER the bodies of two small Detroit boys were found in a vacant field in the community, Romulus Councilman Mrs. Joan Lee wondered "if there could be an ordinance which requires airport officials to check the trunks of cars when they drive in."

Councilman Lng Coleman, who lives down the street from where the bodies were found and intimately knows the people living near the "dumping area," likewise shared the concern.

"We're going to be known as the graveyard for Detroit's murder victims, if this keeps up," he said.

To date, the council has gone on record in favor of approaching the county to gain permission to assess the governmental unit for streetlighting along Henry Ruff and Beverly roads.

BUT, LITTLE action has been taken on the airport parking lot problem. "You can drive a car out from Detroit, park it, walk away from it without attracting attention, and be away from it for several days before the body is discovered," Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas said.

"It also is possible the killer could drive in, park and fly out of our jurisdiction."

But, he said extra measures by the airport's regular patrols have done little to discourage the dumping.

"WE'VE HAD special people working the parking lots for about two years," he said. "Since then, we've had more bodies turn up in the suburban shopping centers. And others have turned up in Romulus' vacant fields. Troutt hit the problem on the head when he said: "I guess we'll have bodies as long as there are murders in Detroit."

"With a lot of the murders linked to drugs, I guess you'd have to say that we'll always have the problem as long as there is a drug problem."

Troutt said that Romulus is attempting to do its part in alleviating the drug problem.

with the Romulus Help and Job Placement Center.

Now, he adds, it's up to other communities to do their part to root out the evils, which have caused the soaring murder rates in Detroit.

Belleville vs. champ in 1st round

It's Christmas cage tourney time

The last time Belleville and Wayne Memorial met on a basketball court Belleville humiliated the Zebras 87-73. The occasion was the first round of the district playoffs. A lot has changed since then. Belleville has a new coach, Tom Niemi, and Wayne has a redesigned lineup. But Wayne coach Bill Hawley hasn't forgotten what happened to his team.

And he doesn't want it to happen Thurs., Dec. 27 at 7 p.m. when the Zebras take on Niemi's Tigers in the first round of the Cherry Hill Holiday Tournament.

"They beat us pretty bad then," recalled Hawley whose team is the defending champ. "And you don't forget things like that."

WAYNE, which is sporting a 4-1 record, winning four straight after dropping its season nonleague opener to Garden City West, is led by senior guard Glenn Ambrose. Ambrose, 6-2, is scoring at a 20.3 clip this season and has been the catalyst of Wayne's success. He teams with 6-0 Mike McCormick in the backcourt. Holding down the forward positions are Bob Morningstar (6-4) and Clark Johnson (6-3) while Al Slamer, a 6-2 senior, handles the pivot. "I was rather impressed with Belleville's victory over Plymouth Salem the other night," said Hawley. "Tom is certainly doing a fine job with his ball club. They are going to give us a lot of competition."

HAWLEY pointed out that neither team has much size and "we both play similar styles, depending upon a lot of speed. It's certainly going to be a good game."

The Wayne-Belleville clash

Enterprise-Roman
Sports
- A PANAX PUBLICATION -
Thursday, December 27, 1973 Page 11

is the first of two games set for take on the host, Cherry Hill Dec. 27. In the second game, (3-2). The confrontation is set Westland John Glenn (6-2) will for 8:30 p.m.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP will be decided Sat., Dec. 29 at 8:30 p.m. The consolation game will be played between the two losers at 7 p.m.

NIEMI is no stranger to Wayne Memorial cage strategy. He also sees "a tough game" for his boys.

"I think Wayne Memorial is an outstanding basketball team," the Belleville coach said, "and they have one of the better shooters in this area in Ambrose. Wayne also has a good backup man in Morningstar and Johnson also is tough."

"Wayne likes to run, at you all the time and plays solid defense. Just take a look at their record, it speaks for itself."

NIEMI's Tigers will go into the game with a 2-2 won-lost record and the Belleville coach's tentative lineup looks something like this: Robin Hook (5-11), Mel Abraham (5-9) and Walter Easley (5-9) doing most of the ball handling and Dennis Easley (5-11) and Charlie Brown (6-1) working the boards.

"We like to run a lot and so do they, so it is going to be interesting to see how this one ends up," said Niemi.

In the second game, Westland will be out to avenge a 69-67 loss sustained from Cherry Hill earlier in the season. That defeat snapped a two-game Glenn winning streak but also was the last time Cherry Hill looked impressive on the court. The Spartans then went on to lose their next two of three games.

Glenn, whose game with nonleague rival, Melvindale was cancelled Friday because of the snow, has won three straight handily. Coach Gordie Davis has been getting outstanding performances from pivotman Brian Kaluzny, guards Jim Kholman and Harry Polovino and forwards Terry Johnson and Jeff Brittain.

MEANWHILE, Coach Dick McNally's cage engine has been sputtering along on one piston, Bob Fowler, a 6-5 junior forward who has carried much of the workload.

McNally has been using Mark Eaton and Bobby Dunsmore along with Tim Cook and Joe Snipes, but he will probably come out with a revamped lineup to correct the imbalance in both the defense and offense.

Robichaud, the defending champ at the Anchor Bay tournament, will take on the host in the second game of the first round Friday, Dec. 28 for its initial test.

The Dearborn Heights cagers will try to snap a four-game losing streak.

In the preliminary game at 6:30 p.m., Algonac will clash with New Haven.

The championship will be decided Saturday at 8 p.m.

Four teams, including New Boston Huron, are paired off in the tournament at Gibraltar Carlson. First round action pits Huron against an erratic Dearborn Heights Annapolis team.

Annapolis 2-2 on the season beat Dearborn Edsel Ford in its last outing while losing to such "no names" as Lutheran West and Crestwood. Coach Michael Bird, in his first year, has three reliable cagers in his lineup including Charlie Barnhouse, Jeff Switzer and Don Teschendorf.

In the second game Southgate and Carlson will decide which of the two will reach the championship. The final will be staged on Friday, Dec. 28 at 8 p.m. The consolation game is at 6:30 p.m.

Sports Meridian

Taking stock in the area's top shots

By TOM MOORADIAN

This is that column: all high school basketball coaches abhor: an accounting of the top prep cage scorers in the area. It stirs the emotions of some because they argue it picks out those who have scored the points and places the emphasis on scoring and individuality where basketball, as we all should know by now, is "teamwork."

But, making the basket is as much - if not THE game - as defense or any other facet of basketball. And, no matter how well a guy plays defense, it's usually the player who has scored the most baskets who gets the ink and the college scholarships and the pro contracts.

And, I personally love to watch a good defensive player make a fool out of the "gunners", and they can accomplish that in many ways: stealing the ball, blocking a "sure shot", holding the 30 ppg. scorer to a mere two free throws - you name it. A good defensive player can do it all if he has the brains.

But, we are not here to praise the defense, but to honor the offense - players such as Livonia Franklin's Kevin Kaseta, Romulus' John Long, Inkster's Rowan Childs, Cherry Hill's Bob Fowler, Wayne Memorial's Glenn Ambrose, John Glenn's Brian Kaluzny, Garden City West's Ken Kinsvater - these are the lads who are setting the early scoring pace in the season.

LONG, THE EAGLES' 6-5 senior all-stater, is on top of the scoring parade in the area with a 24.3 point per game average. That .3 gives him the edge over Kaseta.

A "dead-eye" from the corner, Long has amassed 146 points in six games and has hit 36 points in one game to share the top output for a game with Inkster's diminutive guard, Childs.

Romulus is presently sporting a 4-2 won-lost record and the key game for first year Coach Jesse Meriweather will be Friday when the Eagles host a powerful Detroit Northwestern High School quintet.

Meriweather calls Northwestern "the best Class A team in the state this year."

If Long and Romulus can survive the test, they'll lift many an eyelid across the state.

KASETA is the best "big man" Franklin has had in its 14 year history. The 6-7½ senior has scored 144 points in leading Coach Bob Visser's Patriots to a 4-2 over-all record and a perfect 2-0 mark in the Northwest Suburban.

His top game was against Garden City East when Kevin sank 32 points. He also collected 31 in the opening day loss to Wayne Memorial. Franklin is riding the crest of a four-game winning streak and its on top thanks to the all-around play of this lanky pivotman.

CHILDs is only 5-7, but he keeps everyone on their toes. A deft ball-handler who reads defensive players well, Rowan has scored 133 points in six games for 22.1 average.

In his last outings, against Detroit Chadsey, the shifty Inkster cager sank 36 points, playing less than three quarters. Coach George Thompson calls the 17-year-old senior "one of the best ball-handlers we have had in these parts."

Fowler is a junior who has a tremendous leap. The 6-4½ forward who doubles as a center has amassed 107 points in five games for a 21.4 average.

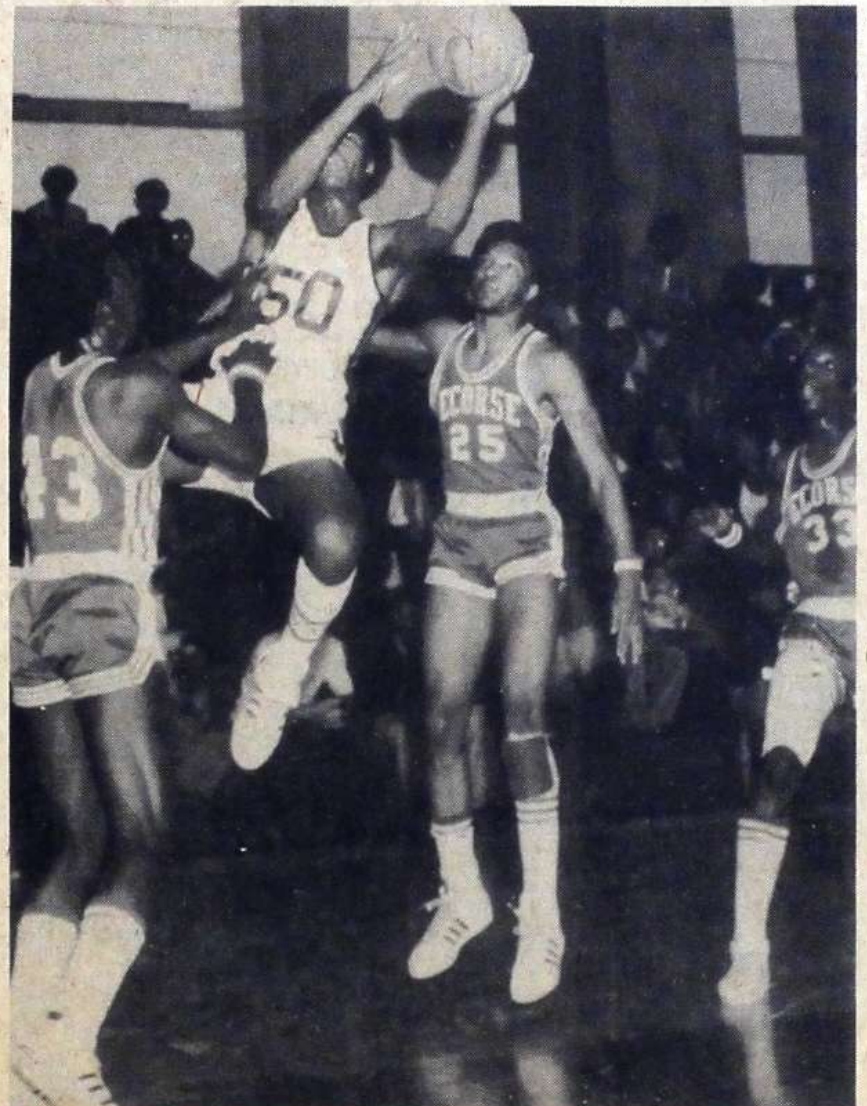

Though the Spartans are floundering - they're 3-2 on the season - no one is counting them out of any title picture because of this explosive cager who can do so many things well.

AFTER A SLOW start, Glenn Ambrose, Wayne Memorial's 6-2 senior guard has begun scoring at a 20.2 clip. He got nine points in the season opener at Garden City West, but then has strung together games of 28, 20, 22 and 22 for a total of 101 points.

"Not only is he a great offensive player," says Wayne Coach Bill Hawley, "but he also possesses defensive skills to match. He is very quick and agile and can jump with anyone."

Wayne lost its opener to Garden City West, but has come back with four consecutive victories. The Zebras are definitely going to figure prominently in the race for the inaugural Great Lakes 8 Conference title.

KALUZNY is a 6-4½ senior center, but under the boards he can duel with those who are four or five inches taller. Rugged and aggressive, Brian has scored 125 points for a 15.0 average and has helped Coach Gordie Davis' Rockets to a 5-2 record.

MAN IN THE MIDDLE — One of the leading scorers in the area, Romulus' Johnny Long (50) cuts between two Ecorse players to score this layup in one of the earlier Eagle confrontations that Romulus won. Coach Jesse Meriweather's quintet was "snowed out" last Friday against Northwestern (Detroit) and that game has been tentatively rescheduled for Feb. 5th. Romulus will be back in action after the New Year on Jan. 8 when the Eagles will host Detroit Cody. —Enterprise Roman photo.

Can't buy much with a 'buck' The $2 bill may return

Terming the one dollar bill "nearly obsolete" because of inflation, Congressman William D. Ford today called upon the Treasury Department to put the two-dollar bill back in circulation.

In a letter sent to Treasury Secretary George P. Schultz, the 15th district congressman offered two "very good reasons for placing the two-dollar bill back into circulation after a seven-year lapse."

"First," he wrote, "the inflationary pressure of the past few years has literally made the dollar bill obsolete. There are few items that can be purchased today for less than one dollar, and a two-dollar bill would be much more practical for both the shopper and the businessman."

"Secondly, the two-dollar bill carries the likeness of our third President, Thomas Jefferson, one of the most highly respected of all the men who have held that high office. Today, with opinion polls showing a shocking lack of confidence by the public in the Presidency, we desperately need a rallying symbol for the increasingly cynical public."

"Jefferson's likeness on the two-dollar bill, in general circulation, would remind all Americans of this great President, and the principles of integrity and dedicated service which marked his entire public career."

Commenting on his letter, Ford emphasized again Jefferson's unblemished reputation after nearly two centuries.

"Historians have shed new and often unpleasant light on many of America's traditional heroes," Ford pointed out, "but the many-faceted career of Thomas Jefferson remains as a shining example of the best American tradition of public service."

"The Democratic Party recognizes this great patriot's genius and accomplishments every year with nationwide Jefferson-Jackson Day celebrations. Jefferson and President Andrew Jackson, another outstanding American, have been singled out by the Democratic Party as two of our greatest leaders and statesmen."

Local officials assume positions in law group

Several local law enforcement officials recently were elected to positions on the governing body of the Michigan Constables Association, during the group's annual convention in East Lansing.

New Boston Constable, Devere Willard, was selected as secretary, and Romulus Constables Pat Durham and Morris Beaver as trustees.

During the convention, members received instruction in the various phases of criminal and civil procedure as it relates to their jobs.

The association represents the largest number of "grassroots peace officers," township and city constables, in the state.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

Thank you... for your letter. You asked for a report on my observations and impressions of Christmas. They are many and varied, good and bad, encouraging and sad. Here in cropped words is a brief outline. It is sad to see the miracles and mysteries of Christmas invaded by the fraud of crass commercialism. The holiday hysteria of searching, surging crowds in the selling season used to start at Thanksgiving. Now, in many areas, it has been stretched to start at Halloween. It saddens me to see war toys given to impressionable children. Glorifying a make-believe violence of war is the very opposite of the "peace on earth" message of Christmas.

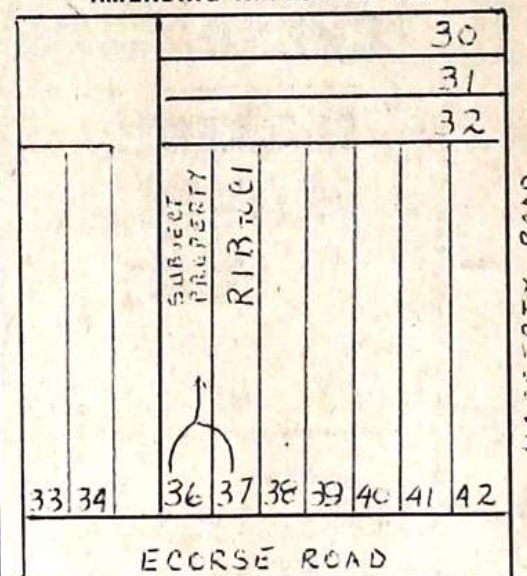

I am glad however to see and sense the Christmas spirit of multitudes of people who show and share the meaning of Christmas. I am glad to see so many families attending church services together, hand in hand and worshipping together. No hilarity; simply a joyous commemoration of the holy day celebrating the birth of the Holy Infant, so tender and mild. My own ho-ho-ho and a Merry Christmas seems so meaningless when heard against the "Behold, I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." Sincerely, SANTA CLAUS

The above is a reply to the letter which appeared here last week.
